MARINERS' PARK

Would you like to live among people who have had similar experiences of a life at sea?

Then what could be better than to join a community full of other retired seafarers?

Mariners' Park offers accommodation for retired seafarers and their dependants. Provided by the Nautilus Welfare Fund, it is a unique place to live, where you can share memories, camaraderie, and your retirement years with like-minded people.

Located on the banks of the River Mersey in Wallasey, Merseyside, Mariners' Park is set in 16 acres of idyllic parkland with stunning views of the iconic Liverpool skyline.

What's on site?

There are 112 retirement homes, which consist of one and two bedroom apartments and bungalows, and two and three bedroom houses.

We have a range of properties available to rent, which ensures that we can find the best possible fit for you and your dependants. You can also add your own touches to make your house a home.

There are a range of facilities for residents' use, including:

- beautiful gardens
- bowling green
- internet cafe
- visitor accommodation
- a comprehensive programme of activities and events
- access to Egremont / New Brighton Promenade
- travel links to Wallasey, Liverpool and Chester

24-hour care and support

The on-site team provide a dedicated management and support service — including a 24-hour emergency response through a community alarm to ensure total peace of mind. There is also a home care service on site if required.
